BLM Rawlins Seeks Public Comment on CCSM Infrastructure Components EA

Public Meetings Scheduled

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) Rawlins Field Office is seeking public comment on the environmental assessment (EA) of infrastructure components for the Chokecherry and Sierra Madre (CCSM) Wind Energy Project and draft finding of no significant impact (FONSI).

This EA is tied to the 2012 CCSM Wind Energy Project Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) and Record of Decision (ROD), which approved the 219,707-acre project site as suitable for wind energy development, subject to additional review of individual plans of development to ensure compliance with overall ROD requirements.

The EA analyzes potential impacts from the site-specific plans of development for the haul road and facilities, road rock quarry and West Sinclair rail facility. Based on the analysis, no new or significant impacts were identified beyond those already disclosed in the EIS.

The CCSM project consists of two wind development areas with 1,000 turbines and ancillary facilities south of Rawlins, Wyo. Each wind turbine will generate up to three megawatts (MW) of electricity, with a total project capacity of up to 3,000 MW - enough energy to power nearly one million homes. Turbines will be constructed in two phases over an estimated eight-year span.

The BLM has scheduled two open houses for the public to ask questions and submit comments about the EA and draft FONSI. They will be held from 4:30 to 7 p.m., Aug. 25, Platte Valley Community Center, 210 W. Elm Ave., Saratoga, Wyo.; and Aug. 26, Jeffrey Center, 315 W. Pine St., Rawlins, Wyo. Each meeting will include a presentation at 5:30 p.m.

Written comments on the EA and draft FONSI will be accepted until Sept. 10. Comments may be emailed to BLM\_WY\_PCW\_windfarm@blm.gov with "Infrastructure EA Comment" in the subject line; faxed to 307-328-4224; or mailed or delivered to BLM Rawlins Field Office, Attn: Heather Schultz, CCSM Infrastructure EA, 1300 N. Third St., P.O. Box 2407, Rawlins WY 82301.
